IMMIGRATION TO GET A SHAKE UP

Pacific Coast Officials of the Service will Undergo a Probe by Secretary Nagel

CHINESE INVOLVED

Certain Officials are Believed to Have Smuggled In Chinks and Opium Cargoes

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., July 23.—

Secretary of Commerce and Labor is about to order a "shake up" involving the immigration service all up and down the Pacific coast, it is reported today. The indictment of the secretary's purpose is in a letter he is alleged to have written Immigration Commissioner North here notifying him to prepare complete lists of all the Chinese inspectors and interpreters in the various Pacific coast bureaus who are suspected of irregularities, with a view of shifting them to other cities, for the good of the service. There are constant rumors recently of influential Chinese on the Pacific coast have been endeavoring to get North's job because of grievances they are alleged to have against the action of Secretary Nagel as a compromise. It is believed that North is not entirely willing to comply with the request of Secretary.

Admitted in Washington

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 23.—Nagel was admitted at the department of commerce and labor today that he had been made by Pacific coast immigration officials against officials and that an investigation had been under way. "The trouble is of long standing," an official, "and I do not know anything is likely to develop in connection with it at this time. It is said that the charges did not seem very well founded or action had been taken long ago. At the same time it is certain, of course, that Secretary Nagel will look into the situation when he visits the coast immigration stations."

The department refused to give details as to the charges, but it is no doubt that they were in connection with the Chinese smuggling of Chinese across the borders from boats at American ports as well as alleged plots to smuggle opium.

WALL DIVIDEND FOR DEPOSITORS

MADISON, Wis., July 23.—(Special)—It is understood that the directors of the First National Bank of Mineral Point, Wis., will shortly receive a small additional dividend on their claims. The payment of any further dividend depends almost entirely on the outcome of the suit of the Kennedy company to recover $150,000, which was paid by the bank in the early part of this year. The action will be tried before Judge Landis in Chicago early in fall.

MADE IN LA CROSSE WEEK OF SEPT. 5.

Board of Trade Plans Monday Exhibition of Home-Made Articles

DISPLAYS IN STORES

Two Great Market Days would Bring the Farmers and it will Be Made Gala Event

A "Made in La Crosse" week, to begin with the big Labor Day celebration Sept. 5th, and to continue for six days, with the stores open two evenings, a couple of big Market days for the farmers, and the 75 to 100 manufacturers in La Crosse represented by big exhibits in all the downtown store windows, is the plan which the home industry committee of the Board of Trade developed yesterday afternoon at a meeting of the La Crosse club, and which will undoubtedly be a big success.

The meeting was attended by President William Doerflinger, Secretary J. L. Utermoehl and Committeemen, A. H. Schubert, D.W. McWilliam, Joseph Felber, Fred Heil, E. C. Josten and John Rae.

According to the plans, sub-committees will call upon the merchants to ascertain how much window display and inside space they will be willing to devote to the "Made in La Crosse" exhibits. It is planned to continue the exhibits on Main from Second to Sixth or Seventh, on Fourth from State to King, and on Pearl from Fourth to Second. Each of the 75 to 100 factories would have exhibits of their goods, and in some instances the exhibits would include actual manufacture, machinery being set up in the stores and employees put to work to illustrate to the crowds how the goods are actually made. It is planned to have the stores remain open Wednesday and Saturday evenings, Monday being Labor day, and on two or three days there will be big open markets for the farmers, when an expert auctioneer will be employed to conduct the open sale and auction off anything from a potato to a horse and buggy which the farmers may bring to town to sell.

Big Industrial Parade

The plans are to combine with the laboring people to make the Labor Day parade the greatest ever held here, all the big factories and business houses being represented with industrial floats. The sub-committee will at once begin interviewing the merchants to determine what space they will give up to the exhibit, and after this is found out, the committee will call upon the manufacturers to learn the extent of the exhibits. Officers of the Board of Trade are enthusiastic over the prospect of this big "Made in La Crosse" week and believe it would have a home coming or any other event similar to it, discounted for drawing powers and general interest.

Bring Excursions

The committee also proposes to run in excursions on the South-eastern and other railroads, and it is believed thousands of people from the surrounding territory would come here during the week. Details will be worked out very elaborately to make this the biggest promotion week ever held in this city.

SPREADING RAILS CAUSE TRAIN WRECK

PORT HURON, Mich., July 23.—Eight persons were injured, one fatally, when a local train on the Pere Marquette was derailed by spreading rails about five miles west of here today. With the exception of Alexander Mudge of Carsonville, all will recover.

NEGRO SUSPECT IN RAWN CASE FREED

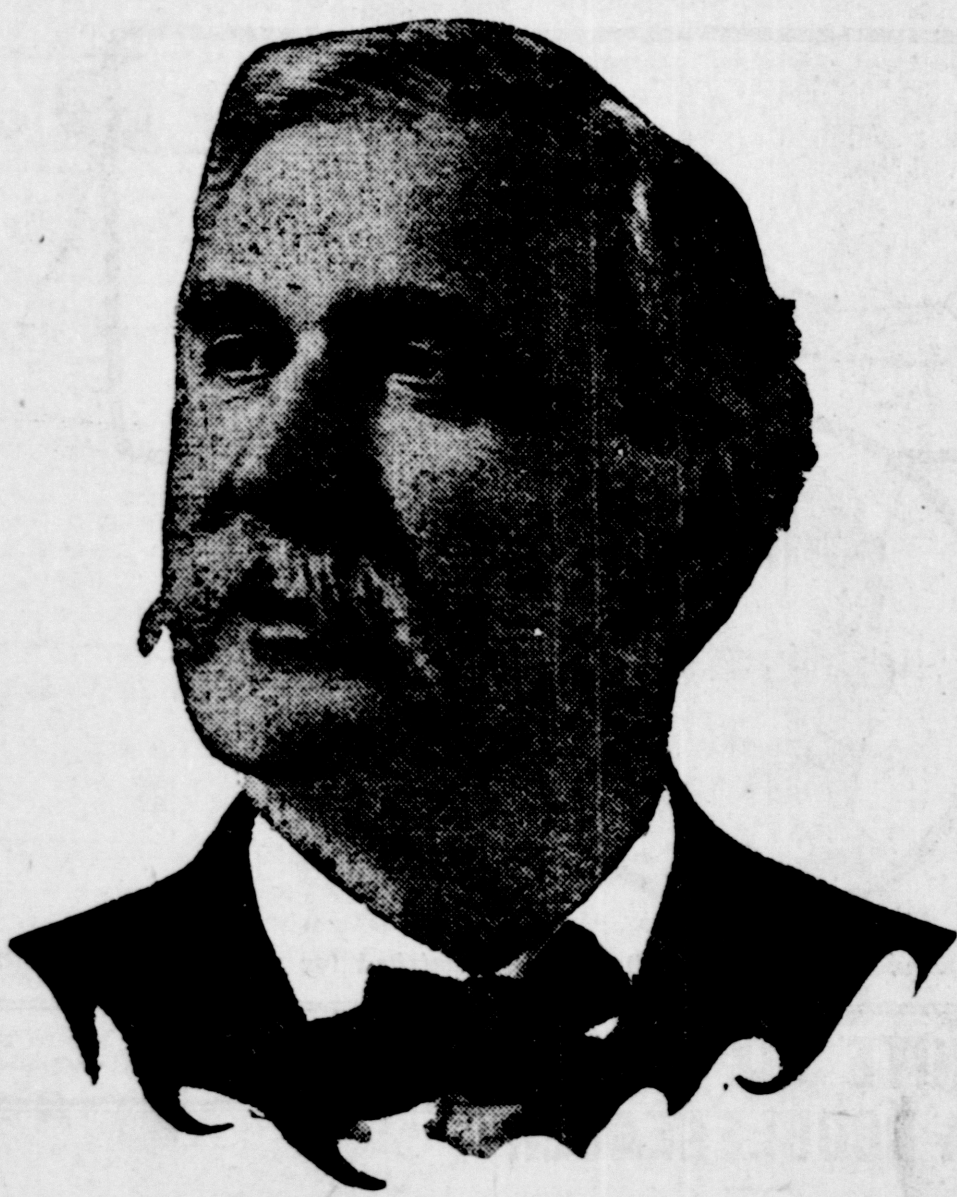

CHICAGO, July 23.—The police this afternoon, satisfied with the alibi of Ernest Stevens, the negro arrested on suspicion of knowing something of the death of I. G. Rawn, railroad president, directed his release from custody. Stevens proved to the satisfaction of the police that he could not have been near the Rawn home on the night Rawn met death. With the collapse of this clue, the Chicago police are more convinced than before that Rawn died by his own hand.

BOARD OF TRADE'S GREAT BUILDING

CHICAGO, July 23.—Tentative plans are under way today for the erection of a massive structure to be used as a new home for the Chicago Board of Trade. The structure when completed will cost $4,900,000. The erection of the building is pending a vote by the members of the board.

LEWIS GUEST OF KRONER
Paul D. Leming of Cape Girardeau, Missouri, a prominent manufacturer of that state, is the guest of the Kroners here today. He is associated with the Kroner company in large jobbing interests.

GOVERNOR OF IOWA INDICTED

RECENT PICTURE OF GOVERNOR CARROLL OF IOWA.

DES MOINES, Ia.—The Polk county grand jury has returned an indictment against Gov. B. F. Carroll, charging criminal libel. The indictment came as a considerable surprise to the friends of Governor Carroll. The charges are preferred by John Cownie, former member of the state board of control and a bitter enemy of Governor Carroll since Cownie's resignation was demanded as a result of the investigation of the affairs of the state industrial school for girls at Mitchellville.

BRISTOW OPPOSES THE "NEW" PARTY

Kansas United States Senator Says Progressives will Remain in Republican Ranks

NEW YORK, July 23.—"I am not in favor of a third party," wires United States Senator Bristow of Kansas in response to a query from the New York Times.

"The progressive republicans are fighting for the control of the republican party," the dispatch continues, "believing that to be the most feasible way to advance the political reformation that the people demand. This fight will ultimately attract to their support all good citizens who believe in popular government. The policies they are advocating are in harmony with the traditions of that party, and a majority of its rank and file are with them."

HONESTY PAYS A CHINESE GOVERNOR

PEKIN, July 23.—One high Chinese official, who disregarded the usual Chinese custom of evading the issue, has learned that straightforwardness is to be rewarded under the new Chinese regime.

The official is the governor of the province of Chen Kiang. He "acquired merit" by a report he has just submitted to the Prince Regent concerning the Tartar general at Hangchow. The Prince Regent heard that the general was an opium smoker and wrote the governor to learn whether the report was true. Most Manchu Tartar officials are closely allied with the royal family but this did not awe the general who wrote that the general had been an opium smoker, but had promised to stop using the drug. He amounted to little as the general turned over all official matters to his defiant and the latter smoked opium.

Besides the governor wrote, the general sleeps most of the day, so he can do little official business, even if he is so inclined. So pleased was the prince regent with the governor's response that he granted the request of the governors to stop lotteries in his province.

BURLINGTON CREW DRIVES THRU CITY

The large construction crew which the Burlington road has been employing near Lytle, drove through the city today to Genoa, to which place they have been transferred. The greater share of the crew are negroes, although there was to be seen an occasional Indian or white man. The cavalcade of mule driven graders, scrapers and wagons was over three blocks long.

NO HOPE TO SAVE DAWDY'S EYESIGHT

Harold Dawdy, the Onalaska man who was injured by the explosion of a whiskey barrel early in the week, and who is under the care of an eye-sight specialist, may now lose the sight of both eyes. The physician holds forth no encouragement that the eyes may be saved. The young man's parents, Judge and Mrs. W. H. Dawdy, Greenville, Ill., are in the city caring for him.

BUTTERMAKERS TO CONVEY HERE

Board of Trade to Invite State Convention, which would Bring 500 to the City

At the suggestion of President A. A. Johnson of the Onalaska Agricultural school Secretary J. L. Utermoehl of the board of trade has written a letter inviting the State Buttermakers' convention, which meets soon after the holidays, to meet next time in La Crosse.

Prof. Johnson has just returned from Madison and declares Secretary Benkenhoff gave him every encouragement, and that he believes the convention can be brought here. The convention is usually attended by about 500 delegates.

KONETCHY'S TEAM WALLOPING GIANTS

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 23.—If Roger Bresnahan and his Cardinals keep going at their present clip in the two remaining games of the series with the New York Giants, McGraw may begin to dread his visits to St. Louis, especially if he needs games. The Cardinals are well on the road toward winning a title of "Giant killers," as a result of the way they have handled Bresnahan's former boss and his team on the local lot.

The Giants are just paying their second visit to St. Louis this season and by dropping yesterday's game, 4 to 0, gave the Cardinals a record of six straight from them on the home lot. On the previous visit McGraw had the Giants well up toward the leaders and had hopes of landing in first place in the percentage column. The Cardinals took four straight and the Giants were given a setback.

There are two games yet to be played in the present series but with a 2 to 0 and 4 to 0 game already against them the Giants have been shoved into third place.

STEAMER BURNING OFF FLORIDA COAST

CHARLESTON, S. C., July 23.—A wireless message received at the local station reports the Southern Pacific steamer Momus, with a fire in the cargo hold aft, anchored under the lee of Capt Canaveral, Florida. The steamer Momus of the same line is standing by, the passengers of the Momus having been transferred to her. The crew of the Momus aided by all that be spared from the Momus, are fighting the fire which is not yet under control. The fire was discovered yesterday afternoon and the Momus summoned by wireless.

The only danger will be to the vessel as the Momus has wired that she will stand by until the fire is out or until it becomes necessary to abandon the ship, to save the crew.

CRIES OF HORSES CAUSE OF PANIC

NEWARK, N. J., July 23.—In a fire that destroyed the stables of the L. J. Buckley Contracting company, city scavengers, early today, one hundred horses were burned to death. Fifty others were rescued badly burned by the firemen. The terrible screams of the suffering horses caused a panic in the neighborhood.

ARBITRATION OF STRIKE SOUGHT

Strikers and Grand Trunk Officials will Submit Lists from which to Select

WABASH STRIKE OFF

Trouble Incidental to Big Canadian Difficulty Is a Victory for the Trainmen

MONTREAL, July 23.—MacKenzie King, minister of labor, was confident today that the minor points of difference between the Grand Trunk and its striking employees will be eliminated so that his proposed plan of arbitration can be worked out. Both the men and the company say they are willing to arbitrate. It is the plan of Minister King to try and get both the company and the men to submit lists of men whom they would be willing to have arbitrate the dispute and from these lists selected three satisfactory to both sides.

Wabash Strike Off

DETROIT, Mich., July 23.—The strike of trainmen on the Canadian division of the Wabash railroad is at an end and the men will go back to work, according to J. J. Sims, superintendent of the Detroit division of the Wabash. The men came back at the 18 per cent increase offered by President Hayes of the Grand Trunk, and the question of adopting the standard scale asked by the men is to be taken up at a later conference."

MORE OF LOVIE'S LETTERS PUBLIC

NEW YORK, July 23.—Despite the fact that Helen Woodruff Smith has threatened to compel Russell Griswold, who is suing her for $50,000 for breach of promise, to cease making public letters written to him by her, the young man gave out another batch today.

In an interview in his lawyer's office young "Siegfried" Griswold reiterated his statement that he is still in love with his wealthy and handsome "Brunhilde" and would marry her. He defended his course in making public the letters claiming that Miss Smith had "cast slurs" on his family and had "called names."

"But of course, I still love her and always will," he said. "She was my first love. She was a married woman when first she made love to me. She captured my heart absolutely. I was only 18 years old. The second day I met her she spoke of my beautiful ears, mouth and nose. Of course, I was susceptible to the praise of a woman, as notable, wealthy and handsome as Helen was—and is today. I fell for it. That's all there is to it."

Refused "Love Bonfire"

"When Helen secured her divorce, she was fearful lest the same letters would fall into a third person's hands. She proposed a 'love bonfire' at which she and I would be invited guests and each burn the other's letters. But I refused as I wanted to preserve the letters to console me when I was away from her."

"Helen jilted me for another." Now she accuses me of trying to blackmail her. Never was money a consideration between us. She knows that. Always and always I loved her for herself and she loved me until I took sick and that man Harper came to Linton Lodge."

Most of the letters which Griswold made public today are addressed to "Dear Russell—My For-got-me-not," "Dear Little Ruzzie," and "Russell, My Dear Boy."

In one she writes: "I sent you a libes gruss in the form of a bouquet but that was not half enough. I had been wondering why I didn't hear from you or see you; thought you were busy with something but never dreaming you were sick. Poor little kid."

OLD MILLIONAIRE A WIFE DESERTER

NEW YORK, July 23.—Central office detectives today arrested Jas. McConnell, 60 years old, a fugitive from justice, and reputed to be worth $1,000,000. McConnell is wanted in Philadelphia on a charge of abandonment. When called upon to open the door of his room at the hotel, McConnell refused and the detectives were obliged to kick the door in. A warrant for his arrest was sworn out by Robert Baker, district attorney of Kenosha, Wis. Mrs. McConnell and her two children, aged 13 and 14, respectively, are here to prosecute the aged millionaire.

AFTER CHINESE REBELS

MACAO, July 23.—The Portuguese governor of Macao today dispatched five gunboats, two torpedo boats and eight auxiliary vessels to Fort Colowan in a concerted movement to drive out Chinese rebels.

OFFER MINISTER POLICE OFFICE

Colorado Council Calls "Bluff" and Offers Pastor a Chance to Make Good

SEEKING A WONDER

And if the Good Man Can Deliver the Goods They Offer to Make Him Sole Dictator

GREENLY, Col., July 23.—Because he delivered a sermon from his pulpit denouncing the city officials for not enforcing the law and expressing the fervid wish that he could be chief of police for a while, Rev. J. J. Lacey, a Methodist minister, has "had his bluff called."

The city council today offered him a job as policeman with a fine chance to become chief of police. In offering the job the council asks the preacher:

"Can you distinguish between a woman who is a bad one and one who is just giddy?"

"Can you tell the difference between a poker game and plain cribbage?"

"Can you tell when a man is drunk enough to be sent to jail, and when he is only hilarious enough to be sent home?"

"Can you distinguish between young couples, innocently spooning in the park and those who should be arrested?"

"Will you walk your beat from 6 in the evening until 7 the next morning?"

If the minister qualifies, the council makes this offer:

"After a year, if you have demonstrated your ability to detect criminals, catch bootleggers, keep your own skirts free from muck, the council will come to you with open arms and ask you to take the job of city marshal. For years the council has been looking for a man to fill that position who has the personal reputation of a Joseph, the patience of a Job, the wisdom of a Solomon and the courage of a lion."

IS JAILED FOR DIVORCE FRAUD

CHICAGO, July 23.—Willis Counselman, the prominent broker and clubman, sentenced to three months in jail for fraud practiced in obtaining a divorce from his insane wife, will endeavor to escape punishment through an appeal to the appellate court. Attorney Charles Erbstein, acting for Counselman, said today that he would file an appeal and it is hoped that it will act as a stay of sentence.

Judge Chetlain delivered the blow which has tagged divorces in Cook county late yesterday afternoon in which he emphasized the need of purging the divorce courts of objectionable methods. Technically Counselman was found guilty of contempt of court.

Counselman was stunned when he received the news. He spent last night at his home and today commitment papers for his arrest will be issued and unless the appeal acts as a stay he will be committed to jail.

The first blow in the case was struck a few days after Counselman had married Miss Clara French. Mrs. Counselman was in a sanitarium at the time the divorce had been secured and an investigation of methods used in obtaining it led to the nullification of the marriage between Counselman and Miss French and she returned to the home of her parents.

"HIGH BROW" TURK A REVOLUTIONIST

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 23.—No less important personage than Mussein Musni Effendi, the shiek-ul-islam, is being implicated in the reactionary plot in connection with which the young Turks government has been making so many arrests and conducting such a vigorous investigation. It is upon this ground that Mussein's resignation is explained. He was succeeded by Musse Klazin Effendi, a member of the upper house of the Turkish parliament and a man of decided young Turkish sentiment.

MURDEROUS SULTAN NEAR TO OVERTHROW

ALGIERS, July 23.—Messages from Fez indicate that Sultan Mulai Hafid has become practically a homicidal maniac. His disposition and the restoration to the throne of his brother Abdel Aziz are considered a matter of a few weeks. No one at court is free from the ruler's fits of murderous fury. The tortures he inflicts upon those who incur his wrath are fearful and his viziers have experienced the greatest difficulty in preventing his ordering of wholesale slaughters in several districts.

Te European military men with whom Mulai Hafid surrounded himself have deserted him and the Sultan can not cope with a widespread revolt.

BANDIT HUNT ON; FOLLOWS MURDER

Paymaster for Penna. Mine Is Held Up and His Guard Shot by a Highwayman

POSSES SEARCHING

Perpetrator Fails to Get Any Booty and Angry Crowd Is Hot on His Trail

KITTANANG, Pa., July 23.—Robert O'Day held up near Pendleton, Pa., Paymaster M. F. Brown, superintendent of the Widoon Coal Mining company who was enroute to the mines from Reynoldsville with $2,800 and shot and killed Horton Craig, who accompanied Brown as a guard. The bandit then escaped but a posse is searching for him. The robber failed to secure any money.

When the bandit appeared, Brown and James Corbett, another guard, jumped from their buggy and fired. The robber returned the fire and then fled into the woods along the road. Brown and Corbett hastened on with the money but as Craig, who was riding in a spring wagon closely behind the paymaster, followed, the bandit fired at Craig, killing him instantly.

A suspect has been cornered in an abandoned coal mine near and an arrest is expected shortly. Although only one man was seen it is said that others remained in ambush.

EAT OPIUM FOR CANDY; MAY DIE

BOSTON, July 23.—The death of three children and serious illness of five others is likely to be the result in the suburb of Webster of eating opium pills for candy.

The children found the "dope" in a box on the public dump and partook of the supposed sweetmeat. All got sleepy and went home. Later their mothers found them unconscious. Quick work by physicians may save five of the eight, but three are in a dangerous condition.

YOUNG WOMAN DIES AT THE HOSPITAL

Miss Frances Okon, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Okon of Berlin, Wis., died yesterday afternoon at the La Crosse hospital after a three weeks' illness of peritonitis. She was 21 years of age and was a milliner. The body was taken to Berlin last night and the funeral will be held there today.

The first advance car for the Sells-Floato circus arrived in the city this morning and a force of bill posters immediately started out to bill the town. Centerfielder Callahan of the Eau Claire club in the Minny league is the leading batter in the organization according to the figures released today by President Elliott having a batting average of .376 for a total of 221 times at the bat. Bidy Dolan has relinquished the wonderful lead which he held at the beginning of the season and is now hitting the ball out at a .339 clip which is more like his normal work. Russ Bailey, late from the Milwaukee Brewers, ranks second among the stickers with a batting percentage of .351 and Carter, released with a string attachment by Eau Claire to Wausau to make room for Bailey is third with .343. Safford, Grogan and Kelly are tied for eighth place with a total per centage of .307.

Callahan is also the leading run getter in the league having a total of 52 to his credit. Mike Malloy maintains his reputation as a base thief and his mark of 33 stolen sacks is the highest in the league. Callahan is second with 29 while Breyette is second in the run getting with 47, with Malloy one run behind.

Eau Claire's winning streak can be mainly traced to the work of Callahan, Bailey and Breyette at the bat, these three players batting all over .319 and the work of Nicholson, Morrow and Worman who are among the leading ten pitchers in the league.

Boys Whittaker and Cy Dahlgren are the real holders in the pitching departments of the league, each having won 10 games and lost 3 with a per centage of .769. Pearl, Cleran of Winona is the nominal leader with a perfect record of 5 games won and none lost. Lakoff of Wausau is a consistent performer having won 12 and lost 4.

ELKS TO MEET THE TRAVELERS

There will be Something Doing at League Park Sunday when the Teams Get Together

Of all the organizations of good fellows the Elks and the Commercial Travelers are recognized as containing about all there is to it.

So you may well imagine when the baseball teams of the Elks and the Travelers get together at League park at 3:30 tomorrow afternoon for the "greatest show on earth," there's going to be something doing in the way of baseball.

If the weather continues favorable it is expected there will be a great crowd present tomorrow afternoon to witness the game between the two organizations, both of which are "whetted" for the combat.

DOUBLE HEADER WILL BE PLAYED

Two games of baseball are scheduled to be played at the League baseball park tomorrow afternoon. The first game between the La Crosse Rubber Mills team and the Westby team will be called at 2:30 and the second game will be called at 3:30 o'clock between the Elks and the U. C. T.

HETTY'S SON IS REAL SPENDTHRIFT

ST. LOUIS, Mo., July 23.—E. H. R. Green, son of Mrs. Hetty Green, "the richest woman in the world," may have to do some tall explaining to mother when he reaches New York, if she learns how he has been "throwing away his money," while enroute from Texas to New York to take charge of Mrs. Green's financial affairs. He is known to have spent $12.80 in two hours and thirty-five cents while in St. Louis. Green, who is a Texas railroad magnate passed through St. Louis and it became known today that he hired a taxicab for a trip through the parks between trains. His bill amounted to $12.80, and $16 would have paid the rent of Mrs. Green's Harlem flat at one time.

Several Machines May have Same Marks, but whether They will Pass Expert Is a Question

APPLETON, Wis., July 23.—Only ten cars now remain with clean scores at the beginning of the last day of the Sentinel reliability test under the auspices of the Wisconsin Automobile association. The successful cars are Jackson, the two Buicks, Kissel Kar No. 10, Kissel Kar No. 11, Pope-Hartford, Reo, Franklin, Overland and Petrel.

As the tour ends tonight a summary of the scores made by the other cars competing that have failed to land clean scores so far may be of interest. The total penalization against them today stands as follows:

A NEW PARTY IDEA

It must be left to wiser heads than ours to determine whether or not there shall be formed a new political party.

Senator Cummins of Iowa has doubtless good reasons for urging that the progressive republicans and the radical democrats could and should form a party that would carry the best elements of both the old parties with it.

It is undoubtedly true that there is no lack of leaders in sight for such a party. Indeed if we may take Senator Cummins' own selection as the choice of leadership the new party would strip both of the old parties of their most notable and ablest statesmen.

It is also true that there is good cause for such a suggestion. Without going over again the many instances in which the present government has failed to represent the people or to protect their interests, we may assume that a very large proportion of our citizens, especially in the west, are utterly tired of the conditions; and not a few democrats feel themselves degraded and ruled out of representation by their party.

Such a combination as that in Illinois, which bought and sold votes and sent to the senate a man who could not have been honestly elected is but a sample of the way in which certain elements of both parties have conspired to defraud the people and to drag the highest honors of our country through the mire of corrupt practices and political robbery.

These are only mere hints as to the many causes which might easily be presented in any brief for a new party.

But wise counsellors will think well before they determine on the creation of a new machine called a political party. Mere organization does not make a party. There must be a definite and supreme issue calling into life leading spirits all over the country who will rally round the issue—not the issue round the leaders.

Then too, if a new party is to be immediately effective as a force in government, its characters must be vital and inspiring so as to be instantly recognized as a rightful substitute for one of the old parties.

We have no memory of a third party ever proving effective in popular government unless it was able to do this. The republican party of Lincoln's day swept the field with a mighty issue and it buried the old whigs. And this is the only way—as we read history—that a third party has ever been successful as a competitor for popular government.

In England the Free Traders under the leadership of Cobden and Bright formed a party, but it was a party of education which ultimately forced one of the old parties to espouse its doctrine. The British Parliament has at the present time
a third party—the Irish, but while that party is a powerful minority to compel attention they have no thought of governing Britain.

In this country we have already several parties, each spending their forces in maintaining party machinery for registering their convictions,
but so far as any hope of swaying the sceptre of government they can look only through the big end of a telescope.

The great political leaders, to whom Senator Cummins would naturally turn for his new party idea,
will not be willing to add another to these parties who are as the voice of John crying in the wilderness.

If these men are to lead they must lead to power and must bring order and progress out of chaos and retrogression.

AMBITION'S TRAGEDIES

It would seem that modern civilization is swaying from one great evil to another. Striving for peace as against war—for education as against ignorance—for higher social morals as against commercialized debauchery, we are prostrating ourselves basely before the GOD OF GAIN and thousands of victims daily hurl themselves under the wheels of the huge juggernauts of high finance.

Bankers' rows in our penitentiaries are the most notable memorials of the modern world's reckless madness for wealth. It is a perpetual "handwriting on the wall," which, however, fails to warn men that the pathway to mere possession is strewn with wrecks.

But to this warning there is added
the crack of doom which is heard from the smoking pistol in the hand of the suicide who suddenly turns the joyous home into a place of carnage, blood and death. And yet the pace is kept up.

Here is the president of a railway company who has risen from the lowliest round on the ladder of success until by diligence and ability he reaches the highest round, but he stands on tip-toe and vaults into mid-air for a prize which even if gained will be as worthless as a superfluity of china dolls to an infant.
But failing to grasp it he falls from a height which makes the sound of the crash more startling.

This is in brief the story of Ira
G. Rawn, late president of the Monor Railway company, who lays the trail of powder for a murder theory,
but whose sad end is told in one sad
word—suicide.

"Those that covet much are of gain so fond,
That what they have not, that which they possess
They scatter and unloose it from their bond,
And so, by hoping more, they have
but less;
Or, gaining more, the profit of excess
Is but to surfeit, and such griefs sus-tain
That they prove bankrupt in this rich poor gain."

Crocker's Love for America
"Richard Crocker will undoubtedly come back to America to live,"
said a Tammany man at a banquet at Delmonico's.
"Yes, Mr. Crocker," he went on,
"told me down in Florida that his attachment to America was as strong as the old woman's tea."
"The old woman's tea?" said I,
puzzled.
"Then Mr. Crocker explained that this old woman used to brag about her tea in these words:
"Och, but mine is the lovely strong tea. Sure, it takes such a powerful grip on the second wather."—Detroit Free Press.

When Astor Sold Realty
"One of the most stringent real estate rules of the Astor family is "never sell," and only one sale is recorded in the entire life of old John Jacob Astor," said Niles F. Watkins, a real estate broker of New York. In 1836 Astor tore down his house in Broadway, cleared the whole block from Vesey to Barclay street and built the huge gray Quincy granite hotel which held forth not many years ago as the Astor house, being one of the first notable landmarks in New York, and also one of the best paying pieces of property.

"A few days after it was finished
the old gentleman and his eldest son,
William, were walking through City Hall park, where the postoffice now stands, and stopped a moment to admire the building—the finest hotel
in America at that time.

"Pop, that's a mighty fine building," said William. "I wish to gra-tious it was mine."

"So," answered the father. "Well, Billy, give me $1 and you can have
it."

"Out came the dollar—a big silver dollar, that is cherished by the family to this day as the dollar of our daddies—and within an hour
the deed of the property was made out and recorded. This was old Mr.
Astor's only sale of real estate in his life."—Washington Herald.

"How does it happen that you are five minutes late at school this morning?" the teacher asked severely.

"Please, ma'am," said Ethel, "I must have overwashed myself."

Climbers
This story is told of a New York teacher who recently escorted a party of children to the Zoo; she came to a stop in front of the savage little peccaries, the South American wild hogs that often chase the unwary traveler up a tree—or else
make him over into a nutritious lunch. She couldn't find the sign on the cage. "These children," said she impressively, "are mustangs."

A bystander overheard her, and sought to put her right, for the children's sake. "Pardon me," said he,
"but you have the name a little wrong. These are wild hogs."

Evidently some faint recollection of those arboreal adventures referred to in which travelers are sometimes engaged when they fuss with the peccaries floated through her mind. She gave the helpful stranger
a bright look of thanks. "I am so-o grateful," said she. "I knew it was something that climbs a tree."

Speaking With Authority
One of the briefest and no doubt
one of the most sincere addresses ever delivered on the subject of capital punishment was made in Worcester county, Mass., more than two generations ago.

A notorious character by the name of Charley James, standing on the gallows with the noose properly adjusted, was asked before the cap was drawn over his face if he would like to say a few words.
"Ladies and gentlemen—beg pardon,
gentlemen," he said. "Standing where I do, I am unalterably opposed to capital punishment."
Everybody's Magazine.

Too Much for the Bird
A trained ostrich recently disconcerted its exhibitor at a music hall
by continually endeavoring to break away from all restraint and to climb
over the footlights into the orchestra.

The widely advertised act came to a sudden end, and the professor emerged from behind the curtain and apologized for the actions of his pet in about these words:
"Ladies and Gentlemen—Hi ham
very sorry to disappoint you this evening. We are compelled to cease our engagement until the management engages a new orchestra leader."

"The one at present employed
here 'as no air on top of 'is head,
and my bird takes it for a hegg."
—Tit-bits.

Tired Natures Sweet Restorer
The late Bishop Foss once visited a Philadelphia physician for some trifling ailment. "Do you, sir," the doctor asked, in the course of his examination, "talk in your sleep?"
"No, sir," answered the bishop.
"I talk in other people's. Aren't you aware that I am a divine?"

G-T-H-E Goose Girl

By HAROLD MCGRATH
Copyright by Bobbs-Merrill
Company

"I am summoning her highness,"
said the duke, as he struck the bell.
"And, Highness," added Grumbach, "despatch some one for Gretchen, who lives at number forty the Krumerweg."

"The goose-girl? What does she know? Ah, I remember. She is even now with her highness. I shall send for them both."

Gretchen? Carmichael's bewilderment increased. What place had the goose-girl in this tragedy?

"Now, while we are waiting," resumed the duke, his agitation somewhat under control, "the proof, the definite proof!"

"Her highness stumbled one night,"
said Hans, "and fell upon the fire.
I snatched her back, but not before her left arm was badly burned."

The Gipsy nodded. "I saw it, your Highness."

And that was why Grumbach went to the military ball with opera-glasses! Carmichael was round-eyed.
But Gretchen?

"The Princess Hildegarde has no scar upon either arm," continued Grumbach. "I have seen them. They are without a single flaw."

"More than that," reiterated the duke. "That is not enough."

They became silent. Now and then one of the other stirred. The duke never took his eyes off the door through which her highness would enter.

She came in presently, tender with mercy, an arm supporting Gretchen, who was red-eyed and white.

"You sent for us, father?"
How the word pierced the duke's heart! "Yes, my child," he answered; for it mattered not who she was or whether she had come, he had grown to love her.

"I am sorry you sent for Gretchen," said Hildegarde. "She is ill."

Gretchen sighed. To her the faces of the men were indistinct.
And, besides, she was without interest, listless, drooped.

"My child, will you roll up your left sleeve?" said the duke.

"My sleeve?" Hildegarde thoughtfully looked around. Roll up her sleeve? What possessed her father?

"Do so at once."

"I can not roll up this sleeve,
father," blushing and a trifle angry
at so strange a request.

Hans opened his knife and laid bare her left arm. She uttered a little angry cry. "How dare you?" She tried to cover the arm.

"Let me look at it, Hildegarde," requested the duke.

SO EASY

News Item—Japan is actively making preparations to annex Corea.

Strengthen your heart, then. I stand before you the most wretched man in all this duchy. These men affirm that I am not your father.
They say that you are not my daughter."

"And that Gretchen is!" spoke Hans. His conscience was costing every one something dear.

"If?" Gretchen drew closer to Hildegarde.

The duke studied the portrait of the mother and then the faces of these two girls. Both possessed a resemblance, only it seemed now that Gretchen was nearest to the portrait and Hildegarde nearest to the doubt.

"You say she wore the costume of a Gipsy child when you lost her?"
said the duke.

"Yes." Von Arnsberg took from under his coat a small bundle which he opened with shaking fingers. He had been in the Krumerweg that afternoon.

"Why, those are mine!" exclaimed
Gretchen, excitedly.

"You see?" said Von Arnsberg.
"Would you not like to be a princess, Gretchen?"

A princess? Gretchen's heart fluttered. A princess? She saw the king shaking the bars of his cell;
she heard his voice calling out his love for her. A princess? She laid her head on Hildegarde's shoulder.
She was weak, and this was some dream.

"But who, then, am I?" asked Hildegarde. There was no sign of weakness here.

Again there was no answer.
"Tell what you know," said Hans to the gipsy. "Highness, he alone knows the man who brought about all this."

"The archplotter of this damnable conspiracy?" The duke's eyes became alive, his face, his whole body.
Every beat of his heart cried out for vengeance. "Who is he? Tell me!
Give him to me, man, and all of you shall go free. Give him into these hands. His name!" The duke's hands worked convulsively as if they were already round the throat of this unseen, implacable enemy. He was terrible in this moment.

The Gipsy produced a letter. It had to be held carefully, as it was old and tattered. The duke read it.
Beyond that it made the original officer it was worthless. The handwriting was palpably disguised. The duke flung the missive to the floor.

"Fool! Is that all you have? Tell me what you know, man, or I shall have you shot in the morning, immunity, or no immunity! Quick!"

"Highness," said the Gipsy, thoroughly alarmed, "this is how it happened. My band was staying at the time in Dreilberg. We told fortunes and exhibited an Italian puppet show. The letter came first. I was poor and sometimes desperate. I was to take her away and leave her with strange people."

"Ah!" interrupted the duke, with despairing gesture toward Grumbach, "why did you not leave us all in peace?"

"Highness, a great wrong has been done, and God brought me here to right it."

"You are a brave man," darkly, sturdily. "In a mad moment I committed a crime. I shall abide by whatever punishment you may inflict."

"Continue," said the duke to the Gipsy.

"Well, Highness, I would not accept till I had talked personally with him. He came at last. His face was hidden and his voice muffled. But this I saw; when he gave me the first half of the money I was certain I should know him again."

"How?"
"By his little finger, Highness."

THREE KINGS IN FAILING HEALTH

Franz Josef, Wilhelm and Alphonso Suffering with Serious Troubles

LONDON, July 23.—Europe is beginning to worry severely over the health of three of her rulers—Kaiser Franz Josef of Austria, Kaiser Wilhelm of Germany and King Alfonso of Spain.

Franz Josef is breaking down from old age. At best courtiers feel his death is only a matter of a few months.

It is an open secret that Wilhelm's recent complaint of "a boil on the wrist," was really a serious matter. His blood, it is said, has been tainted since his birth, as is evidenced by his withered and useless left arm and the alarming abscesses of the ear from which he constantly suffers. His former high spirits have given way to melancholy and depression to an alarming extent.

Alfonso, like Wilhelm, suffers from a painful malady of the ear which Dr. Mouret, the famous Bordeaux, specialist, has tried vainly for more than a year to relieve. Alfonso's ear trouble, like the kaiser's recent boil, however, is unquestionably a symptom of general blood disorder.

GASOLINE STARTS FIRE YESTERDAY

Fire starting from a gasoline stove ignited clothing in the kitchen at the home of Mrs. Bridget Murphy, 1033 Charles street, about 6 o'clock yesterday afternoon, doing damage to the extent of $25. Fire department No. 2 responded to the call and by quick work confined the blaze to the kitchen, where it was extinguished in a few minutes. A gust of wind coming in through an open window had blown the flame from the stove into the clothing.

Every man imagines it is only a matter of time until he succeeds in putting all his enemies in the discard heap.

What Are You Interested In?

Cosmopolitan Magazine offers you the most interesting, up-to-date fact stories and fiction stories of all magazines.

Woman's Suffrage:

Every woman in the country is interested in knowing the progress of the Woman's Suffrage movement. The daily newspapers keep them generally informed as to what is going on in this country. But they don't know what the women of Europe are doing. To answer this question, Cosmopolitan Magazine sent Winifred Black to Great Britain to study the situation at first hand. Mrs. Black has told the story in a wonderful presentation of the facts, describing the personalities of the leaders and the movement abroad.

Political Graft:

Under the general title of "What are you going to do about it?" Charles Edward Russell, the famous investigator, sociologist and writer, tells the story of political graft throughout the United States—how legislative rottenness is reaching into the pocket-books of the average citizen. In a series of articles in the Cosmopolitan he makes a big sweeping expose, told in a dramatic style, of public corruption as he has found it in various places in this country.

Religious Thought:

Harold Bloor, whose work along this line of investigation is the most notable of any investigator of his time, exposes the radical revolutionary religion that is being taught in the women's colleges of this country; shows how these young women are being graduated into the world equipped with a religious training that is startling, if not actually sensational. These articles are now running in the Cosmopolitan Magazine.

Great Men:

Every one is interested in what some BIG man does, or has done. The Cosmopolitan Magazine is fortunate in having been able to induce Porfirio Diaz, "Dictator-President of Mexico," to write his autobiography. Besides that, Cosmopolitan has secured the autobiography of General Miles, whom military experts abroad regard as a very great soldier. Both President Diaz and General Miles have been makers of history in the biggest sense. Their autobiographies will appear in the Cosmopolitan.

Perfect Health:

The new thought health movement in this country is growing bigger every day, and Cosmopolitan is running a series of articles on that subject, each of which is written by a noted experimenter in the science of keeping well. Upton Sinclair has already written one, and many other equally eminent writers are to follow. Besides this, Dr. Woods Hutchinson is writing articles on the care of babies, which are of extremely practical nature for every American home.

Fiction Stories:

You like a good story—every one does, whether it be a love story, an adventure story, a laugh story, or a tear story. Among the fiction writers that the Cosmopolitan has been enabled to get to write stories for you are: O. Henry, Bruno Lessing, Jacques Futrelle, Jack London, Porter Emerson Brown, Alfred Henry Lewis, George Randolph Chester, Sir Gilbert Parker, Agnes and Edger-ton Castle, and a score of others, all of whom contribute one or more of their best short stories. Then there is Robert W. Chambers' new serial, which will begin in the Cosmopolitan soon. Watch for it.

HOT-WEATHER LIVER TROUBLE

Many people who generally enjoy good health suffer from biliousness in the summer time. Rich foods served ice-cold are difficult to digest by the majority, and often produce a chilling of the entire digestive tract. The liver thus becomes sluggish, when the condition known as biliousness results. This is often accompanied by constipation or indigestion. Serious as it may seem, however, to the unfortunate person, it is easily curable with a remedy such as the well-known Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, which is a great laxative and tonic, and which contains ingredients that act upon the liver and stimulate it. It will relieve a hot-weather liver complaint over night and cure it lastingly in a very short time. If you have any indisposition of the stomach, liver or bowels, your first concern should be a supply of this grand remedy, which you can obtain of any druggist for 50 cents or $1.00 a bottle. There will be enough and to spare for your complaint and that of your family. A FREE TRIAL BOTTLE will be sent to those who have never used it if they send their name and address to

COOLNESS QUIET COMFORT

TWO PAIR OF GLASSES

NOT NECESSARY

Those of you who wear two pairs, (one pair to see or with and the other to read with) had ought to obtain the "The Invisible Bifocals." The glasses are the greatest help to those who have poor eyesight.

You are able to see far off and to read with these new lenses.

One pair is all you need. A great comfort and pleasure at all times. Why be bothered with two pairs of glasses when you go to church or the theater?

H. C. Evenson, the eyesight specialist, at 500 Main street, upstairs, has a reputation that is well known for fitting these lenses.

TAFT MAY DICTATE

TENN. GOVERNOR

WASHINGTON, D. C., July 23.—Taft's administration may supply the next governor of Tennessee, say republican leaders who are optimistic over the outlook. They have mapped out that the judicial ticket of the Patterson organization is to be beaten at the election of judges on August 4 by anti-Patterson democrats and republicans, and that the same forces shall unite on a republican candidate in November.

James A. Fowler, assistant United States attorney is considered by many to possess the qualifications necessary in a compromise candidate. Fowler ran for governor three years ago but was defeated by Ben H. McMillin. Since that time he has been in the department of justice.

"I will not discuss Tennessee politics," was all Fowler said today when asked whether it was likely that he would run for governor.

His answer was characteristic of all Tennessee political leaders in Washington, except Senator Taylor. The senator got caught in an embarrassing position between the two factions and has been subjected to a fire to which he has responded with a couple of broadsides.

Taylor is credited with making promises to make campaign speeches for the Patterson ticket, but he became so disgusted with the general political situation in the state that he decided he would make political speeches for nobody.

Probably no state has been torn by so bitter a feud as prevails in Tennessee. It grows mainly out of the murder of former Senator Carmack and the pardoning of his slayer by Governor Patterson. The governor is charged also with an attempt to load with his followers the supreme court and the court of appeals.

The other faction of democrats placed a ticket in the field containing the names of three of the old supreme court judges, one new one and candidates for the court of appeals.

Defeat of Patterson's ticket with the August election would be regarded by the republicans as a fore-runner of his downfall in November at the general elections.

Republicans believe, however, that his defeat could be brought about in any event by the nomination for governor of a man who would attract the votes of the democrats opposed to Patterson.

Fowler is regarded here as one of the most available men for the position. Should he decline, an effort will probably be made for the service of United States District Attorney Edward Sanford, Kingsville, or Foster W. Brown, now attorney general of Porto Rico.

MYRICK PARK PICNIC

The picnic given yesterday afternoon at Myrick park in honor of Rev. Magin, pastor of the First M. E. church, was an unusually pleasant affair, about fifty of the congregation being present. The supper too, was exceptionally fine and was served by the ladies of the church.

PORCH PARTY

Miss Edna Birnbaum of 1128 Gillette street was pleasantly surprised Thursday evening by number of her friends in honor of her sixteenth birthday. The porch was prettily decorated with Japanese lanterns. Music and dancing were the features of the evening. Lunch was served at a late hour. The hostess was presented with a dainty ring, besides other beautiful presents.

The invited guests were Misses Lucinda Mourning, Ella Gage, Clara Larsen, Alene Foster, Leonora and Kathrine Erickson, Allie Pope, Helen Green, Bernice Felzer, May Chambers of Davenport, Iowa, and Edna Birnbaum. Messrs. Percy Drake, Clarence Drake, Archie Downey, Albert Haler, Harry O'Brien, George Snell, Siemet Felzer, Maurice Coughlin, Edward Fitzpatrick, Archie Birnbaum. The Mesdames P. J. Ward, N. Birnbaum and William Burns chaperoned the party.

ANNOUNCEMENTS

The ladies of St. Paul's Universalist church will give a reception in the church parlors Thursday evening, July 28, from 8 to 10 o'clock, in honor of their pastor and wife, Rev. and Mrs. J. S. Lowe, who will leave soon for their new home at Providence, R. I. All members of the congregation and friends of Mr. and Mrs. Lowe are cordially invited to be present.

SOCIAL BRIEFS

Rev. and Mrs. William Ten Broeck of Faribault spent a few days in the city during the week.

Mrs. Harry Fiddlin and son have returned to Minneapolis after spending a few days with Mrs. Fiddlin's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. Affeld.

Mrs. Watterson and daughter, who have been living the past two years in Omaha, Neb., have returned to the city to live. They will occupy the flat formerly occupied by the La Crosse School of Music.

Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Tower of Milwaukee and Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Cook of Minneapolis were guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Barber. They came to attend the funeral of Mr. A. F. W. Cook of Minneapolis.

Mrs. Schuster of Neillsville is the guest of Mrs. W. A. Pryor.

ST. PAUL IS SURE

OF SAENGERFEST

OMAHA, Neb., July 23.—The Minneapolis and St. Paul boosters are continuing their policy of making themselves solid with the Northwestern Sangerbund delegates in that they take back with them to St. Paul the next meeting of the bund. The St. Paul Commercial club is assisting in every way.

The St. Paul delegation, assisted by a large number of Minneapolis singers, are making the rounds of the city, giving two or three songs in each of many public buildings. St. Paul seems a sure winner in its efforts to secure the 1912 sangerfest and if successful will owe much to Minneapolis.

A national German press association is being organized by the representatives of many German newspapers who are attending the fest.

President Rohland is not a candidate for re-election, although he is undoubtedly the choice of the bund for president. The office will probably go to R. C. Stehlow of Omaha.

PUGET SOUND MAKES

GOOD IN FIRST YEAR

The Chicago, Milwaukee & Puget Sound, the coast extension of the St. Paul road, will be able to make an excellent showing for the first year of its operation, ending July 31, according to estimates made by the Wall Street Journal. Several months ago reports were current that the extension was proving a heavy burden to the St. Paul, but the policy of severe retrenchment put in force has brought about the desired result.

When the final returns are in, the Wall Street Journal estimates that the new road probably will have earned $11,500,000 gross, and $6,000,000 net, which means the full 4 percent interest on its $123,000,000 of bonds outstanding, and a surplus of 1.08 per cent on its $100,000,000 stock all of which is held in the St. Paul's treasury.

The earnings were made on 1,466 miles of road, of which 1,390 miles make up the main line. This would bring a rate of $7,845 a mile gross and $4,093 a mile net per annum, the results for June and July being estimated.

BLITZ AND BLATZ

Blitz—Well, well, wie gehts denn altes haus, and how is Mrs. Blatz also?

Blatz—Oh, I am alright, and Mrs. Blatz is getting her kimono cut out this morning.

Blitz—What? Her kimono? How long ago she had it? What hospital is doing it?

Blatz—Hospital? Do you have your clothes cut out at a hospital? Blitz, you are getting more foolish daily. By the way, did you see that new sign in Druggist Bey-schlag's window, 503 Main street, already, what he has?

Blitz—No. When was it? What does it mean?

Blatz—Well, it made me laugh to read it. It says:

And All the

Bug Children.

For 25c.

Blitz—Ha! ha! That's good. But it is the truthfulness. I tried it. N. bugs can be living where it's used according to constructions!

Wingold

THE FINEST FLOUR IN THE WORLD

The recent decision in the famous Flour Bleaching case gives the WINGOLD mill but small and indirect concern; the creamy-white color, dryness and rich, nutty flavor of WINGOLD are imparted to it in nature's own way — nothing artificial or chemical — aging being the agent used. Large warehouse capacity gives the WINGOLD mill this advantage.

SOIL SURVEY IN LA CROSSE COUNTY

Prof. A. A. Johnson of Onalaska School Gets Word
Important Work Is to Start Soon

WORK IS IMPORTANT

Every Variety of Soil in the County will Be Marked and Analyzed for Future Benefit

Prof. A. A. Johnson of the La Crosse County Agricultural college at Onalaska has just returned from Madison where he was informed by Prof. A. R. Whitson of the soil department of the U. W. Agricultural college that a permanent and detailed soil survey of La Crosse county will be started within 10 or 15 days, in which every foot of soil in the county will be examined, analyzed and recorded by an expert from the state university and one from the U. S. department of agriculture.

The importance of this work is almost inestimable says Prof. Johnson, in its far reaching benefits to the farmers of the county, as it will enable all by mere consultation of the map which will be prepared to know exactly what soil is contained in any forty acre tract, and thereby the growers will be enabled to know just what crops can be best grown on each bit of land.

First in State
Prof. Johnson has been working to secure this survey for a long time, and is immensely pleased that it is now definitely known that the work is to be accomplished at once. Although it will be started within a couple of weeks or less, the work is so extensive and so much detail involved, it is likely it will not be completed until next year, although two men remain steadily at the work during such times as it is possible to make the surveys.

May Start at Bangor

The method followed by the soil experts is to start at a favorable locality and go ahead with the work until the whole county is covered, acre by acre. It is estimated there are from 10 to 15, and possibly more, varieties of soil in La Crosse county. When the information is all gathered the state will issue the soil map and the various soils will be indicated by color. The soil samples will be taken to Madison and a detailed chemical analysis made, so that when the work is completed there will be no information concerning La Crosse county soils, and its growing values, which will not be instantly available to those who desire this information.

Use Data at School
Prof. Johnson considers the work of vast importance to the agricultural interests of the county and he says that it will be a big help in the work of the school as well as to the practical farmers. It is the intention of Mr. Johnson to utilize the early information as soon as possible, and this fall the classes at the farm school will get the benefit of all the data gathered by the experts.

The whole state is to be thus surveyed for soil conditions, but La Crosse county is fortunate in being one of the very first counties to get the complete and detailed work done. All expense is paid by the state and the U. S. department of agriculture.

A BOY'S HOLIDAYS

The ardent controversy which has been waging in England and America concerning the best way to dispose of school boys in the long summer vacation has prompted the Grand Trunk Railway System to issue a special publication giving suggestions and practical hints to parents as to what to do with the school boy during the months of July and August. The vacation camp is one of the solutions and the publication entitled "What Shall a Boy Do With His Vacation?" thoroughly covers the ground. A copy may be obtained for the asking by applying to H. G. Elliott, 917 Merchants Loan and Trust Bldg., Chicago.

ATTACK ON KING CREATES SENSATION

LONDON, July 23.—The severe attack upon the royal family made in the house of commons by Geo. Barnes, the labor leader, who was speaking in opposition to the passage of the civil list—the money paid the king and members of the royal family by the nation, created a sensation.

Barnes declared he would oppose to the end the granting of the increased civil list unless the king and prince of Wales would agree to surrender into the public treasury the revenues now received by them from the Duchies of Lancaster and Cornwall, where they own immense landed properties which bring in large revenues.

"The royal income is excessive and the expenses of the royal household are honeycombed with abuses," he said, "inasmuch as it conceals a nest of parasites who are fattening upon the nation under the shadow of the throne."

The civil list asked by the king and the members of the royal family this year amounts to nearly $3,106,000. The revenue from the duchy of Cornwall amounted in 1908 to $414,250, while $308,700 was received from the Duchy of Lancaster that year. Since 1908, however, there has been a material increase in the revenues from these two duchies so that nearly $1,000,000 would be cut off the income of the royal family if the domains in these duchies were surrendered.

conservatives, replying, said that the root of Barnes' objections seemed to be that the royal family was over-expensive for the nation.

An unidentified laborite without rising from his chair, cried: "Not over-expensive, over-immoral."

The audacity of the remark seemed to daze Balfour for an instant and he could only reply that he did not know that the laborites deemed royalty to be immoral.

Laborite Lowett, explained that the speaker must have meant that the expenses of the royal family were immoral, not the members. Balfour added that unless England was able to support a monarchy properly, it would be far better for the kingdom to alter the system of government now in vogue and find another which would have the single merit of cheapness. But he added, it would be impossible to conduct England as an empire as cheaply as America is conducted under a president and besides he did not think an English presidency would be much cheaper than the present kingdom.

Sir Charles Dilke, chairman of the royal commission for housing the working classes, supported the attitude of the laborites to the extent of declaring that the crown lands in Cornwall and Lancaster needed the most rigid management under the supervision of government authorities.

Gibson Bowles, the military writer, and authority, grew even more socialistic, averring that the crown lands in Lancaster and Cornwall never belonged to the members of the royal family in their private capacity and consequently ought to be surrendered to the kingdom, that the revenue might go into the state treasury instead of the privy purse of the king and the prince of Wales.

If, however, it was decided to allow the king and his son to retain these rich crown lands and their income, Bowles declared it was manifestly improper to allow the ruler to escape the provisions of the income tax, under which every other Englishman has to pay his share toward the expenses of the state.

RECEIVER NAMED FOR LAND COMPANY

James T. Stanford of Great Falls, Mont., and W. C. Winton of Conrad, Mont., formerly of Duluth, have been appointed receivers for the Conrad Land and Water Company, controlled by La Crosse capitalists, to take charge of the affairs of the company. The trouble, it is said, is due to recent financial difficulties of a Chicago bonding house, which has been unable to turn over to the Conrad company a large portion of the proceeds of the sale of its bonds. Frank P. Hixon, administrator of the Cargill estate, says the company expected to receive $180,000, proceeds from the sale of its bonds, from the firm which had handled them and being unable to do so work for this season has been suspended.
